Class: Pre-Nursery

English

In July, our Pre-Nursery children had a joyful time exploring rhymes and stories!

They enthusiastically sang action rhymes like Baa Baa Black Sheep, Five Little Monkeys, Wheels on the Bus, and Baby Shark, enhancing rhythm and coordination. A special highlight was the story The Hare and the Tortoise, presented through a soft toy role play, teaching the moral “Slow and steady wins the race.”

Hands-on activities like sponge water transfer and paper folding added to the fun and excitement, while also enhancing fine motor skills, hand-eye coordination, and promoting focus and independence in our little learners.

Mathematics

In July, our Pre-Nursery children explored basic concepts through fun and engaging activities. They learned about 2D shapes, such as circles and triangles, using sand writing, air writing, flashcards, and interactive screens. Oral counting from 1 to 5 was practiced with real objects, helping build number sense. They also discovered the concept of big and small through hands-on experiences. These activities supported the development of shape recognition, comparative thinking, and fine and gross motor skills in an enjoyable, playful environment.

Understanding the World

July was a fun and engaging month for our Pre-Nursery children as they explored the names of animals, fruits, and colours. Using colourful flashcards, they learned to recognize and name different animals, fruits, and colours. They also enjoyed colouring and painting worksheets, matching fruits and identifying animals while using bright colours to complete pictures. These hands-on activities made learning exciting and meaningful, while also developing their language skills and fine motor skills in a playful, creative environment.

🎵 Little Ears, Big Smiles: A Joyful Start to Our Musical Journey! 🎵

Music time in our Pre-Nursery class has been filled with excitement, laughter, and learning! Children joyfully listened to classic rhymes like Twinkle Twinkle Little Star and Baa Baa Black Sheep, sparking their curiosity about the world of sound. Through these rhymes, they began recognizing different instruments, tempos, and tones, which helped strengthen their listening and auditory skills. Learning to pause, listen, and respond not only supported their musical growth but also laid the foundation for better focus and communication.

Physical Education (PE)

Playtime in July was full of giggles and excitement as our Pre-Nursery children enjoyed swings, slides, crawling, and movement fun! Swinging helped build balance, coordination, and core strength, while climbing boosted upper-body power and spatial awareness. Sliding encouraged body control and confidence, and crawling through tunnels supported coordination and muscle development. Beyond physical growth, these joyful activities nurtured important social skills like sharing, turn-taking, and cooperation, turning every playground moment into a fun and valuable learning experience!

Tiny Artists, Big Fun!

Our Pre-Nursery class explored a world of colour and creativity! Little fingers dipped into vibrant paints for a fantastic finger painting session. Then, we transformed tiny hands into beautiful butterflies with handprints, fluttering with imagination! We also used crayons to bring some adorable penguins to life. Every stroke was a splash of joy, fostering their budding artistic talents. It's amazing to see their tiny hands create such wonderful art!

Dance

This month, our tiniest dancers explored joyful movements with music through “Animal Moves” and “Rainbow Circle Dancing.” They responded to fun rhythms using scarves, soft toys, and colorful hoops. Our focus was on developing body awareness, following simple beats, and enjoying movement freely. Every smile during “Tiptoe Like a Cat” or “Stomp Like an Elephant” echoed pure joy!

THEATRE: Emotions on My Face – Pre-Nursery Expressive Play

In the month of July, our little learners in Pre-Nursery explored the world of feelings and facial expressions through the fun and gentle topic, "Emotions on My Face." Children learned to recognize and express basic emotions like happy, sad, angry, and surprised by using their faces and mirrors. With the help of puppet stories, emotional songs, and mirror play, students began identifying how emotions look and feel. Activities like "Show Me That Face" and "Feelings Dance" helped build emotional awareness, social connection, and confidence in self-expression. It was a heartwarming and playful journey into understanding feelings, one little smile and frown at a time!
